

After the Revolution: 1968 and Today:
Fortieth Anniversary Telos Conference
January 19, 2008

9:00 AM: Welcome by Mary Piccone and Introduction by Russell Berman

9:15: Panel 1: The Moment of Protest Chair: Antonio Vazquez-Arroyo

Joe Bendersky: "Displaying the Evidence: Documents and Images"

Martin Saavedra: "Street Protests and Manifestations: May '68 to Buenos Aires 2001"

Christoph Koenig: "The Berlin Student Movement and Adorno, Marcuse, and Szondi"

Daniilo Breschi: "1968 in Italy: Revolution or Cold Civil War"

Zoltan Balazs: "After Apocalypse, The Eternal Present. The European Consciousness Of Political Time"

10:30-10:45 Break

10:45-11:15 Discussion

11:15 Panel II: The Normal Confusion Chair: Tim Luke

Tim Luke "The Crises of the Administrative State: On the Rise of the Totally (Mal)Administered Society from 1968 to 2008 in the U.S.A."

Catherine Liu: "A Brief History of Progressive Education: Pseudo-Individualization and Standardized Testing"

James Barry: "Double Defactualization and the Ruses of War: The Return of the Pentagon Papers"

12:00-12:30: Discussion

12:30-1:30 Lunch: Address by Fred Siegel

1:30 Panel III: Cultural Criticism and Religion Chair: Jay Gupta

Arthur Versluis: "The Counter-Culture Movement and the Origins of Modernity"

David Gross: "The Religious Critique of Culture"

Adrian Pabst: "What happened to Democracy? Representation and Popular Sovereignty since 1968"

Chantal Bax: "Wittgenstein and the Fate of Theory"

2:30-3:00 Discussion

3:00-3:15 Break

3:15 Panel IV: Universalism and Terror Chair: David Pan

Antonio Vazquez-Arroyo: "A New International: 1968, Internationalism and the Valences of the Universal."

David Pan: "Liberalism as a Political Ideology in US Foreign Policy"

Paul Gottfried: "Critical Reflections on a Missionary Foreign Policy"

4:15-5:00 Discussion and Conclusion